

Question: How are you, Stéphane? The Secretary met yesterday with Foreign Minister of Greece and with Ms. [Maria Isabel] Holguin, his Special Representative [sic] for Cyprus. Do you have anything to say, any readout about the meetings?

Spokesperson: I can tell you that the Secretary-General met, indeed, earlier this week with his Personal Envoy, Ms. Holguin. She continues her engagement with the parties and other relevant stakeholders in the search for common ground. She's going to be in New York for a bit, and she discussed with the Secretary-General the way forward. With the Foreign Minister of Greece, I don't have an official readout, but I have no doubt they discuss Cyprus and a host of other issues of mutual interest.
