

Mr. President,

It is a great honor for me today to present to Your Excellency the Letters of Credence accrediting me as Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of His Excellency the President of the Republic Mr. Abdelmadjid Tebboune.

The President of the Republic, whom I had enjoyed to serve as a representative abroad, has appointed me to be his interpreter to Your Excellency, as a hit of assuring you of his high esteem and deep attachment.

Your Excellency,

For my part, it is with a great enthusiasm and ardor that I intend to carry out the noble duty that I have been entrusted. Strongly supported with this will, I intend to do the best to promote our bilateral links of exchange and cooperation in order to give them a dynamic that will lay the foundations for a lasting, mutually beneficial partnership.

Your Excellency,

I do thank you for the celerity with which your Excellency responded to my accreditation's request besides the presentation of my Letters of Credence, as well as the generous hospitality and warm welcome that were reserved for me, along with the delegation which accompanied me, since I have touched the ground of Cyprus, all these noble gestures of respect and courtesy will strengthen my conviction to carry out my duty with serenity.

Also, thanks to the foresight and the wisdom that your Excellency will dedicate to, my aim will be inexorably reached with tact and address.

Your Excellency,

It's a historical day for me on more than one title. First of all, because today I am greatly honored by the meeting of your Excellency.

Then, this audience offers me a pleasant opportunity to convey to you the most cordial greetings and warm congratulations that His Excellency the President of the Republic Mr. Abdelmadjid Tebboune has requested me to forward to you on the occasion of the 64th' anniversary of the well-deserved independence of the Republic of Cyprus.

Finally, I would like to avail this exceptional opportunity to express to you, once again, my thanks for granting me your precious and valuable time.

Thank you.
